

Catch Your Dreams

Wherever you look there is no hope, no breathless land of glory Just a-tisket and a-tasket of a never ending story

And all that sounds just a little like some skipping reels of rhyme is just a-dimming and a-shimmering all but a notch in time

Chorus:

*There's no time to lose
I heard her say Catch your dreams before They slip away*

*After all, we're Dying all the time
Lose your dreams and you Will lose your mind
Catch your dreams
Before you lose your mind*

All the wonders of this world were nought before my eyes and all sweet preaching of beyond was lost among the skies

The winding river ceased to flow my spirit hovering still no forms no colours in my mind t'was life against my will

Chorus

Now, hush my love, don't be afraid no use chewing on what it all means No miracles, no mysterious ways everything's just what it seems

And all you can ask for is the open hand of a friend against the cold for as long as you have till your time has come and Grim Reaper takes his toll

Chorus
