

Earth

chorus

bury me down
deep down in the ground where no one never ever will find me
bury me down
deep down in the ground
where no earthen colours can blind me ashes to ashes, dust to dust to live and die in pain and lust mind and matter must moulder away nothing gold in this world can stay

vers

he met with her orange brown beauty he asked her to follow him, he'd do his duty they walked and they walked the barren land wandered together hand in hand over everlasting plains, mountains sky high from the trampled earth to the sweet bye and bye killing the blues, sucking the marrow hunting and living by bow and arrow ooooo....

chorus

vers

but she was cut to the bone, she was badly hurt
a mammoth laid her down in the dirt he held her and hugged her and he tried and tried but she suffered and bled and finally died once and for all, adorned in thorn she returned to what was before she was born grieving and mourning, she was gone she was gone he could see no reason for him to live on no reason for him to live on back to chorus